Memories are something we strive to keep. Yet as we grow older some tend to fade away. With this book we hope to give you something to help you keep the memories fresh. It's our job. We've been doing it for years. The Quaker gives you a sense of what Guilford is, no matter what edition you look into. Years from now, perhaps you will come home from a hard day's work, pull out this yearbook, and relive some of the fun times you had here at Guilford. Sit back and prepare yourself for an adventure with each turn of a page.

The Quakers

Summer

SPRING GOES, SUMMER COMES.

The Little darling Spring,
Has run away;
The sunshine grew too hot for her to stay.
She kissed her sister, Summer,
And she said:
"When I am gone, you must be queen instead."
Now reigns the Lady Summer,
Round whose feet
A thousand fairies flock with blossoms sweet.

Welcome Kent

The First years were not the only new faces this year at Guilford. Kent Chabotar came in as the new president. But who is this man? Kent was interviewed by the Editor-in Chief of the Quaker to try and give everyone an idea on who this man is and what he wants to do.

Quaker: What were your thoughts coming into Guilford about the Faculty, Staff and Students?

Kent: The college as a whole is student centered with a big emphasis on teaching and on practical learning and the students are artists. The first time I heard about Guilford I was watching CNN and saw Guilford students at a demonstration in Washington either being taken away or bussed by the police. I think it shows that the students want to make a difference.

Quaker: What caused you to try and get the opening here at Guilford?

Kent: They came to me. They called me up in Maine and told me they thought I might be a good match. So they sent me the information and I thought it might be a good place for me. So I applied and now I am here. I think so far it is working well and I plan on being back in the classroom next year.

Quaker: So far after one semester how has your view of the campus changed or has it not?

Kent: Everything I thought was true but I know more now so there are additional learning points. I think the students are more informal up front and more direct than I thought they would be. Guilford students are very direct and for teachers who teach by the case method and it is great. There is less work for a teacher to try and jump start a discussion especially one when students talk to one another. There is much more dependence on a president than I thought there would be, and not in a bad sense. People ask me what is the vision. It is probably because I am so accessible. I am trying to re-center it on everyone else, and while I am the chief executive officer I am only one of the leaders. The last thing is how much friendlier it is than I thought it would be. Being someone from the north I thought there would be much more standoffish at first but because of informality and accessibility this was not the case.

Quaker: What do you enjoy most about working at Guilford?

Kent: Other than the trustees having the ultimate responsibility for lots of stuff, I like the aspect of consensus. My strength is communication and financing so I can actually use my expertise to help the school. I love the student contact. All students bring such different things to the table.

Quaker: Are there any changes you have in mind for the school?

Kent: The biggest changes is in processing. Making sure people know what is going on. I call it Transparent decision making. You would think that in a small college we do it naturally but we don't. Putting administrators onto committees because I think that they have a lot to put on the table because they don't have the power but they have the insight. I want to also bring the college closer to the communities and other colleges. I don't agree with Robert Frost that "good fences make good neighbors" especially in Greensboro. Other issues are the size of Faculty and Students and how much they should grow. We will probably have a refocused curriculum. We have a far broader curriculum than most colleges our size but we have fewer resources. We have to figure out what we want to spend our resources on. We want to raise a lot of money. Five years of campaign and five of fundraising.

Quaker: If I were to say, come to your house, knock on your door and ask for a cup of brown sugar would you have any?

Kent: No. I would have regular sugar and equal. I have no use for brown sugar.

Quaker: If you are stranded on an island and you could have a lifetime supply of pizza or ice cream which would you have and which kind of your choice?

Kent: Deep Dish Chicago Style Pizza with the works on it.

Quaker: If you got the chance to be the first person to speak to a martian what would you say?

Kent: Have you ever really visited here before or are you the last in a series? That's what I would say first than I would say we come in peace. I really would want to know if they have been here before and if they have stayed.

To the students, faculty and staff of Guilford College:

My ifriends in spirit, silence and song; my partners in philosophy and fun; my mentors in labor and life; and the thousand-plus faces that have smiled at me over the past 4 years-

Regardless of where we go from here- if we remain side by side, stay connected through phone calls or memory, or fade from each other's lives completely- know that today I leave with a thankfulness in my heart for having known you.

"It was the best of times,
it was the worst of times,
it was the age of foolishness,
it was the epoch of belief,
it was the epoch of incredulity,
it was the season of light,
it was the season of darkness,
it was the spring of hope,
it was the winter of despair,
we had everything before us,
we had nothing before us,
we were all going direct to Heaven,
we were all going direct the other way..."

It has been a short journey...I've learned how to love and be loved (F.E.), I learned about friendships (T.N.M,R) relationships, the inner light, teamwork (VBL), spirituality (J.M.), leadership (S.B.), passion, desire, support, and trust. I've met some of the greatest people during my Guilford experience, some the 1st ay, and others the last. You all have an equal place in my heart. To my girls: I love you girls to death (Turn, Mello, Trini, Neso) you have been there through thick and thin. You mean the world to me. To my football played: you have changed me in such a crazy way. You've made me a better person. Thank you for making me happy, I hope you never stop. To my RA staff and Deans: you guys were the best people to work with, you helped me grow as a person. From Meggums, Tederific, Swindeezy to Joe, Jody, James and Anne. To my mother: thank you 4 everything and making me the person I am today. xoxoxo. I hope that I've made a positive difference on someone's life as you all have done for me. Don't try to change love or who you love, let love change you.

God Bless

I would like to thank God for giving me an amazing opportunity to come to Guilford College. Thank you: Dad, Ambar, and Seemab for all your support financially and emotionally. Crystal and Sophia for being my soul sisters. Dr. Adrienne Israel for advising and support. Santes Beatty for mentoring and guiding. Ms. Tina and Doug for hooking me up in the cafe for two years. Bonner Scholars Program and Residential Life- thanks for helping me grow into the person I am today. Community Senate: Tamara Asad, Bryant Garnes, Elizabeth Appenzeller and the Senators for 2002-2003- thanks for your support and helping me become the leader that I am today. Thanks to all the administration, faculty and staff for teaching, supporting, loving and caring. And most of importantly thanks to all my amazing friends for being my friends! Enjoy life, keep the spirit, change the world and smile. At last, I would like to encourage everyone to get involved in Anti-Racism work. Dom something for your community and help bring change. Also please forgive me if I have done something wrong to anyone during my four years in college. God Bless you all and the world.

As we grow up, we are constantly presented face to face with opportunity. We have a responsibility to ourselves and to those around us to take full advantage of each opportunity that we meet. I am proud of what I have accomplished. I have planned for the future, but I have had fun on the way. Basically what I am trying to say is that I rode the crap out of that baby elephant.

To my family- Thank you for your love and support. I would not have made it this far without you. Thank you also for giving me a solid foundation to make me the person I am today. I have you to thank for all I have accomplished and what is yet to come.

Henry- Thank you for your patience and support I know this has been hard on you. You have taught me how to open up, love, and be loved. Our distance is finally over, and I promise to stop leaving. I am excited what the future holds for us.

Rania- We have had some rough times, but I think we have both come out on top. Thank you for showing me another approach to things.

I believe that the very purpose of life is to be happy. From the very core of our being, we desire contentment. In my own limited experience I have found that the more we care for the happiness of others, the greater is our own sense of well-being. Cultivating a close, warmhearted feeling for others automatically puts the mind at ease. It helps remove whatever fears or insecurities we may have and gives us the strength to cope with any obstacles we encounter. It is the principal source of success in life. Since we are not solely material creatures, it is a mistake to place all our hopes for happiness on external development alone. The key is to develop inner peace.

Afoot and light-hearted, I take to the open road, healthy, free, the world before me. I inhale great draughts of space; the east and the west are mine, and the north and the south are mine.

All seems beautiful to me; I can repeat over to men and women: You have done such good to me, I would do the same to you.

Whoever you are, come travel with me! However sweet these laid-up stores-however convenient this dwelling, we cannot remain here; However sheltered this port, and however calm these waters, we must not anchor here;

Together! The inducements shall be greater, we will sail pathless and wild seas;

Onward! To that which is endless, as it was beginningless, to undergo much, tramps of days, rest of nights,

To see nothing anywhere but what you may reach it and pass it. To look up or down no road but it stretches and waits for you-

To know the universe itself as a road-as many roads-as roads for traveling souls.

I will not die an unlive'd life.
I will not live in fear of falling
Or catching fire.
I choose to inhabit my days
To allow my living to open me,
To make me less afraid,
More accessible,
To loosen my heart
Until it becomes a wing,
A torch, a promise.
I choose to risk my significance;
To live so that which came to me as seed
Goes to the next as blossom
And that which came to me as blossom,
Goes on as fruit.

"We will dig deep inside to find the strength and conviction to adjust to change and still keep each other close. And somehow, in some way, we will find our place between these two worlds."

"Don't be dismayed at good-byes, a farewell is necessary before we can meet again, and meeting again, after moments or a lifetime, is certain for those who are friends."

Jill Burchell

To the people who helped me get here: my family (for your unconditional love and support), my hearts - Katy (my sister), Dream Team 2001 (my second family), Dessi (my rock), Tamara (my teacher), Liz and Em (my favorite cake bakers), Sarah (my Mickey Mouse impersonator), Melissa (where's the chicken?), Erica (I was supposed to be the mentor), Erin (my fellow band geek), Alison (Happy Birthday...), Lucas (my buddy), Mattie (my little buddy), Ivy (she's talking again) - You've helped me become me and I'm forever grateful. To the faculty and staff who've inspired me - you know who you are - thank you.

Mom, Dad, Win, Chris and Family: I made it!! I don't know what I would have done without all the love and support you have given me over the last four and a half years. Thank you so much for everything!

To my friends: Thank you for all the fun and laughter, especially during the tough times. If it hadn't been for you I may not have made it. I wish you all the best of luck.

I came to college at some time and it was pretty cool or something. We did stuff and that rocked. Your job is fired. Remember that life is beautiful and to gove hugs and share mugs. I'll see you all later. Peace, over and out.

Autumn

Crown'd with sickle and the wheaten sheaf.
While AUTUMN, nodding o'er the yellow plain,
Comes jovial on; the Doric reed once more, Well pleased, I tune. Whate'er the wintry frost
Nitrous prepared; the various blossom'd Spring
Put in white promise forth; and summer suns
Concocted strong, rush boundless now to view,
Full, perfect all, and swell my glorious theme.

James Thompson

I heard a bird at break of day
Sing from the autumn trees;
A song so mystical and calm,
So full of certainties.

See, WINTER comes, to rule the varied year,
Sullen and sad, with all his rising train; Vapours and Clouds and Storms. Be these my theme.

Oh the snow, the beautiful snow,
Filling the sky and the earth below.
Over the house-tops, over the street,
Dancing,
Flirting,
Skimming along,
Beautiful snow, it can do nothing wrong.

Social Change and the Arts Annual 3rd Year QLSP Conference February 20-23, 2003

By: Sally Stevens

This year's conference, hosted by junior QLSPers Alison Duncan, Ted Fetter, Emily Hulburt, Brynne Kirk, Lauren Mitchell, Sally Stevens, and Bryan Warf, invited a variety of various Quaker artists to set the pace for social change. "From songs in the street during protests to the spoken word...art is integral to social change," Fetter stated in the Guilfordian.

Artist Arla Patch opened the Conference with a two-day breast plastering workshop to promote a healthy body image. Later that evening, Deborah Saunders led worship service on youth's important role in social change. The next two days were packed with exciting events: Skip Schiel exhibited his photographs from the Civil Rights Movement, James Shields and his band Imani performed to show reggae's roots in social change, Chuck Fager led a workshop on writing as a form of action, and Lenny Kohm presented a slide show of his photographs from the National Wildlife Refuge in Alaska. The conference also included a panel, which involved all the speakers.

"A lot of Quakers feel a pull toward social change, but in harmony with the peace testimony we must take non-violent action," Stevens said. "While art has been left out of Quakerism in the past, our 'plain' tradition has recently allowed art as an expression of spirituality. Since social change comes from a spiritual place, and art is a powerful means of non-violent expression, we felt these themes fit very well together."

Yachting Club?

We are many things. We are people interested in games. We are people interested in Comics. We are people interested in Fantasy and Science Fiction. Some of us love books, others love movies, some sit all day at a computer, and even some are all three. We encompass such a wide variety of interests that grouping us under the category of "The Gaming Club" just doesn't do us justice.

This is a true statement. Shown when the Yachting Club took over Frank Family Science center for a whole weekend for their What the Hell Con. This was a very interesting weekend with many events ranging from movies, to gaming. It was this weekend that you saw the Yachting Club at their best having some fun. When you hear Yachting Club you should think of much more than just a bunch of people who like to sit around and game, because there is much more to them than first meets the eye.

FWCC Conference

By: Sally Stevens

In light of the tragedy of September 11, Friends World Committee for Consultation (FWCC) Section of the Americas called a special conference to consider Friends' responses to the growing dangers of global war and terrorism. The conference, entitled "Peace Witness in a Time of Crisis: A Friends' Consultation" was held at Guilford College January 17-20, 2003, the weekend of the Martin Luther King Holiday.

Quakers from many different backgrounds participated in the Conference. The program included the history of the peace testimony, sharing spiritual journeys and Friends' witness at the corporate level. Discussion and study was offered in the form of panels, workshops and small group sharing. One of the goals of the conference is to identify specific action that Friends can take to witness the peace testimony as individuals and to strengthen our corporate witness in the world.

This specially called conference was only the fifth since FWCC's inception in 1937. Nearly 250 people attended, including some Guilford students.

Snowflakes

*Snowflakes spill from heaven's hand
Lovely and chaste like smooth white sand.*

*A veil of wonder laced in light
Falling gently on a winters night.*

*Graceful beauty raining down
Giving magic to the lifeless ground.*

*Each snowflake like a falling star
Smiling beauty that's spun afar.
Till Earth is dressed in a robe of white*

Unspoken poem the hush of night.

Spring

Come, gentle SPRING, ethereal mildness, come,
And from the bosom of yon dropping cloud,
While music wake around, veil'd in a shower
Of shadowing roses, on our plains descend.

James Thompson

Close to my heart I fold each lovely thing
The sweet day yields and, not disconsolate
With the calm patience of the woods I wait
For leaf and blossom, when God gives us spring.

The Vow of Washington

God does not send strange flowers every year
When the spring winds blow o'er pleasant places.
The same dear things lift up the same fair faces.
The violet is here.

Robert Kennedy, Jr. : A Contract with Our Future

Vera Brown
Managing Editor of the Guilfordian

"I'm going to die fighting. I'm never going to sell out." Sporting khakis and easy manner, Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. addressed a rapt student audience. He regaled an admiring crowd with harrowing adventures of civil disobedience in Puerto Rico last summer - and the subsequent 30-day jail term. The man was impressive.

Throughout his visit that day, a part of the Bryan lecture series, Kennedy embodied and interwove both an activist passion for the environment and extensive lawyerly knowledge of the issues involved.

"He is the kind of environmentalist that will create broad change at the corporate level," said senior Kristina Millhiser, a veteran leader in Guilford's Forevergreen club. "I'm glad Kennedy is out there doing his thing and being an articulate voice for the many that know saving the earth is a good thing but can't get their point across quite as well."

Since he was a boy, Robert Kennedy Jr. has been interested in the environment, and today serves as the chief prosecuting attorney for Hudson Riverkeeper and senior attorney for the Natural Resources Defense Council. During his 90-minute lecture in Dana Auditorium, entitled A Contract with Our Future, he often referenced his long experience working with the Riverkeeper organization. "I'm interested in issues that connect the environment to the human condition," Kennedy said.

Riverkeeper has had a tremendous impact on the communities along the Hudson River. Kennedy described the Hudson before the group's inception (and after General Electric began duping pollutants into the river): a veritable graveyard for what once was a thriving watershed area. Fires on the river would actually burn for days at a time, due to the massive amount of pollution.

Local fishermen, losing their livelihoods, started Riverkeeper in attempts to fight for their rights to use those waters; in attempts to keep General Electric from stealing their fish. Thanks to the organization, the Hudson River has the cleanliest water in eastern United States today.

Robert F. Kennedy Jr.

- nationally known attorney
- environmental activist
- university professor
- author

"There is a proverb from the Lakota people that states, 'We don't inherit this planet from our ancestors. We borrow it from our children.' I don't want my children to grow up in a world where we've lost touch with the things that connect us to the 10,000 generations of human beings that were here before there were laptops, and that connect us ultimately to God."

- Robert F. Kennedy Jr.

"Polluters make themselves richer by making everyone else poorer," said Kennedy, who added again and again that they wouldn't be able to do so if it weren't for the campaign contribution system currently in place. He's a staunch supporter of the idea that prosperous economies and healthy environments go hand-in-hand; indeed, if corporations were subject to free market capitalism, according to Kennedy (i.e., not subsidized by the government), environmental problems would all but vanish. There is a prevalent idea that if corporations were forced to pay full real cost of their hazardous practices, there would be far less pollution.

That Thursday night, however, there was no argument as to the gravity of the North Carolina hog farming industry situation. The state no longer had any independent hog farmers whatsoever, and 1,600 of the 2,200 farms existing belong to Smithfield Foods, the largest hog producer in the world. Supported by government subsidy and vertical integration, this corporation eliminated North Carolina's independent hog farming entirely. And pollution has skyrocketed.

"Children in this state can no longer go swimming in the summertime," Kennedy said. Untreated hog waste is being deposited anywhere and everywhere, and it's full of antibiotics and growth hormones that the pigs are fed.

The quality of life for communities neighboring these polluting, industrial hog farms has decreased dramatically, the value of some homes dropping as much as 30%. The only fish left in the Noose River according to a very serious Robert Kennedy, Jr., are covered with pustules. He suggests that the most effective way to deal with the problem is to organize locally and join environmental groups.

"We can have success," Kennedy said. "Some of these institutions, even though they're worm-eaten, can still work."

Vagina Vagina Vagina !! That's right-VAGINA! What? You don't like that word? What's wrong with it? Nothing and that's why the Vagina Monologues were put on, to help us all become comfortable with ...Vaginas. These monologues are stories about what women think of when they are questioned about their Vaginas. The stories range from what a 6-year old girl says her Vagina like to wear, to what an old women finally realized about her "down there". For many people this is a sensitive subject but for these women it is a statement. The Vagina Monologues packed Bryan, Jr. Auditorium for three nights, filled with college students, parents, and innocent spectators getting drawn into and hit in the face with what Vaginas thought, felt, wore, said not realizing every possible thing that Vaginas could be affiliated with. All the innocent left with a brand new feeling of their Vaginas (or lack there of), giving men a need for Vagina, and women the strength to be proud of their Vaginas. The Vagina Monologues taught everyone to respect and love things, no matter how forbidden they are in society.

Aprilfest

At 5:01pm Tuesday April 29th the German club held their annual Aprilfest. This fest is held as a celebration to those leaving and for the end of the year. Held on the grass in front of Founders there is music, dancing, food and usually frisbee.

The party starts when Dave Limburg counts down to 5:01pm exactly and Die Quakerhosen begins to play. Die Quakerhosen is a German band with Dave Limburg, Sally Stevens and Lauren Reed on trumpet, Daniel Worrall on trombone, Amy Scheuerman on Clarinet, Dave Dobson on tuba, Jeff Jeske on Accordion, Daniel Hood on baritone and Georgie Woods on drums. Once the music starts the celebration really begins, people begin to dance the Polka or at least try, the celebrity grillmeisters show their cooking skills and students do what they do best eat and hang out.

This year there was a great turn out for celebrity grillmeisters, they included: Max Carter, Leah Kraus, Jim Hood, Frank Keegan, Tim Kircher, Dave MacInnes, Rex Adelberger, Roy Nydorf, Clair Morse, Bob Williams, Charles Almy, Carol Hoppe, Tim Lindeman, and Lee Soroko. These grillmeisters did a great job cooking 350 brautwursts and 175 veggie dogs, feeding close to 200 people before the night was over.

The celebration went great starting the summer off in just the way it was meant to be.

Congratulations! Today is your day. You're off to Great Places! You're off and away! You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes. You can steer yourself any direction you choose. You're on your own. And you know what you know. And YOU are the guy who'll decide where you go. You'll look up and down streets. Look 'em over with care. About some you will say, "I don't choose to go there." With your head full of brains and your shoes full of feet, you're too smart to go down any not-so-good street.

And you may not find any you'll want to go down. In that case, of course you'll head straight out of town. It's openers there in the wide open air. Out there things can happen and frequently do to people as brainy and feisty as you. And when things start to happen don't worry. Don't stew. Just go right along. You'll start happening too...! You'll be on your way up!

*You'll be seeing great sights!
You'll join high fliers who soar to high heights. You won't lag behind, because you'll have the speed. You'll join the whole gang and you'll soon take the lead. Wherever you fly, you'll be best of the best. Wherever you go, you will top all the rest.

*This was taken from Oh, the Places You'll Go! by Dr. Seuss

GRADUATION

Except when you don't! Because, sometimes, you won't. I'm sorry to say so but, sadly, it's true that Bang-ups and Hang-ups can Happen to you. You can get all hang up in a prickly-ly perch. And your gang will fly on. You'll be left in a Lurch. You'll come down from the Lurch with an unpleasant bump.

And the chances are, the, that you'll be in a Stump. And when you're in a Stump, you're not in for much fun. Un-stumping yourself is not easily done...! You can get so confused that you'll start in to race down long wiggled roads at a break-necking pace and grind on for miles across weirdish wild space, headed, I fear, *toward a most useless place. The Waiting Place.....for people just waiting... Everyone is just waiting. NO! That's not for you! Somehow you'll escape all that waiting and staving. You'll find the bright places where Boom Bands are playing.

With banner flip-flopping, once more you'll ride high! Ready for anything under the sky. Ready because you're that kind of a guy! Oh the places you'll go! There is fun to be done! There are points to be scored. There are games to be won. And the magical things you can do with that ball will make you the winning-est winner of all. Fame! You'll be famous as famous can be, with the whole world watching you win on TV. Except when they don't. Because sometimes, they won't. I'm afraid that sometimes you'll play lonely games too. Games you can't win 'cause you'll play against you. All Alone! Whether you like it or not. Alone will be something you'll be quite a lot. And when you're alone, there's a very good chance you'll meet things that scare you right out of your *pants. There are some, down the road between hither and you, that can scare you so much you don't want to go on. But on you will go though the weather be foul... Onward up many a frightening creek, though your arms may get sore and your sweaters may leak. On and on you will hike. And I know you'll hike far and face up to you problems whatever they are. You'll get mixed up, of course, as you already know. You'll get mixed up with many strange birds as you go. So be sure when you step. Step with care and great tact and remember that Life's a Great Balancing Act... And will you succeed? Yes! You will, indeed! So...be your name Bauzbaum or Bixby or Bray or Mordecai Van Allen O'Shea, you're off to Great Places! Today is your day!

I would like to thank everyone that has helped to make this book possible. We had a rough start but I hope that you agree that we have done a good job trying to get as many people in as possible. I would especially like to thank Monica Chevalier for all her help, sometimes I may not have let her know how helpful she was but without her a lot of this book would not have happened. I also want to thank Janine Bugai, who may not have helped out everyday but was a good addition to the staff. To all the others who helped a little here and there thanks. Last but not least I want to show my thanks to Leslie Moss, The Guilfordian, Kaye Miller and Herff Jones for everything. ~ The Big Ass

“THE OPINIONS EXPRESSED WITHIN ARE NOT NECESSARILY THOSE OF THE ADMINISTRATION, FACULTY STAFF, OR STUDENTS. PHOTOS AND CAPTIONS THROUGHOUT THE YEARBOOK WERE OFTEN DONATED BY INDIVIDUAL STUDENTS, AND THE QUAKER STAFF ACCEPTS FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR INCLUSION IN THIS PUBLICATION.”

Anyone who feels that they did not get represented as part of the Guilford Community in this book, please remember that you had the option to submit photos so that you could be represented. For all those that feel this way please feel free to submit photos for the next book.
